“ I've always wished blessings to the souls of those who passed, but I won't on this one. I trust God with what he did with this racist detective who was one of those responsible for taking 30 years away from an innocent man. Bye Bubba. I'll pray for myself for wishing he was burning the Hell up.

“ I can still see I am now riding around in his patrol car with the window rolled down and his arm out. I really admired and respected him.
