“ In times of loss, words bring little comfort. The heart feels the pain and misses the presence of those lost to us here on this earth. But life never really ends-it just goes on in another place and in a way we cannot know yet. But, we will meet again in that place. And life will be joyful and we will celebrate once more. My heart hurts for all of Daniel's most beloved. But Daniel isn't hurting anymore. \r\nLove and prayers.\r\nTwana
