“ Our “Granny” had a huge hand in raising all of her grandchildren and great grandchildren. She kept us from getting some “whoopins” we shoulda got, but believe me we all made quite a few trips to pick our own switches when need be. I didn't stay in contact with her over the past 10 years or so, mainly from the guilt of knowing the bad choices I had made in my life and the shame of them knowing she taught us all better. Though she would let us know when we were wrong and not “sugar coat” anything, she always forgave, didn't judge us and never stopped loving..... Miss you GRANNY

“ Even though I didn't get to spend a lot of time with Aunt Eunie over the past few years, she was always kind, forgiving, and honest with all of us. She loved the old ways of life. I'll never forget her asking me to get her a raccoon from my property a few years ago. We ended up getting her two of them, and she said she cooked them for Thanksgiving that year. lol I love you Aunt Eunie and I'll always miss you.
