“ One of the most precious memories of our Aunt Myrie was her 80th birthday celebration. Aunt Myrie was surrounded by her loved ones. I had not seen that many Nixons together outside of a family reunion, Aunt Myrie was just giddy that so many of her family gather together to celebrate her 80th birthday milestone. Aunt Myrie was so happy to see so many of the family she loved and she told story after story...it was amazing! And boy did we surprise Aunt Myrie when we all showed up! It was priceless to see how happy she was to be surrounded by the folks she loved.

Aunt Myrie had an amazing charisma, she was spunky, loving, keep it real, and a story teller. Aunt Myrie told us young folks about the experiences and ordeals that she saw her parents, brothers and sisters, and children go through to remind us of the Nixon Legacy, our past, to show where we came from to keep us grounded and to remember what the Nixon family stands for no matter how crazy life gets.

I miss our Aunt Myrie, but im being selfish. Aunt Myrie is no longer in pain, she is with Uncle Carl, she is with Jeffrey , with her favorite brother Hank as well as her other siblings, and her parents.

We love you Aunt Myrie

“ Aunt Myrie you will be missed. You always told great stories. I was so happy to go to your childhood home with you and go inside and listen to your memories of grandpa and grandma Nixon and you kids. I will always cherish the roosters that you gave to me for my kitchen. It will never be the same to come to Alabama and not stop to visit you. REST IN HEAVEN. Tell mom, dad and all our family hello and hug them for me.
